

Horse columnist to publish new book Release party date changed to May 18

Diana Tuorto, Horse Beat columnist for Today In Hunterdon and Hunterdon Review will be releasing her second children's book, "Janie's New Legs," this spring. The book is appropriate for ages 8 to 14 plus and proceeds will benefit Somerset Hills Handicapped Riding Center in the Oldwick section of Tewksbury Township.

Tuorto will host a book release party from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday, May 18, at Somerset Hills Handicapped Riding Center at 83 Old Turnpike Road in Oldwick.

The book is the story of Silver, a shy pony, rescued from abuse and neglect, and Janie, a fragile young girl, paralyzed from a car accident. Janie meets Silver at a handicapped riding facility, where she goes to escape the constant confinement of her wheelchair. An extraordinary friendship soon develops and the two gradually begin the road to healing and recovery together.

"Janie's New Legs" will be available at the event for $15 per copy in limited quantities, but special discount rates of $12 per copy are available for those who place an order by Tuesday, April 15. To place a book order by phone, please contact Nichola Redmond or Lisa Turiano at (908) 439-9636 by Tuesday, April 15.

To download a copy of the book party order form, visit <http://cayuse.8k.com/JN/order-formshrc.pdf> or email Tuorto at lunar\_aradia@yahoo.com for more information. ▼